Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
		1 Pressure doesn't change the hazard	2 The shortcut isn't shorter	3 The small details hold the biggest loads
6 Don't wait until your body decides for you	7 Keep your hands out of the line of fire	8 Close isn't good enough	9 The hazard can change while you're working	10 Doing the right thing when no one is watching
13 Communication is only effective when it's understood	14 Listen when equipment is telling you something	15 One missing lock changes everything	16 If you can't see, don't move	17 The best safety reminder came from a coworker
20 Your work area is bigger than you think	21 Let the tool do the work	22 Verify the valve, not just the lock	23 Temporary fixes can create permanent problems	24 Don't wait till someone asks for help
27 Five seconds that could save your fingers	28 Never trust a load to stay still	29 Every lock protects a life	30 What falls from above doesn't give a warning	31 Every alarm has a purpose
